Barney Williams' illness has taken a favorable turn, and his friends now hope for his recovery.

Regulations will be prepared at the treasury department to-day for an issue of silver currency.

Ella M. Callinan was shot dead by her lover, John McNamara, at Corning, New York, yesterday. Jealousy was the cause. The murderer has escaped.

The Union Pacific have made a reduction in freight tariff from Omaha to Fremont which enables Omaha merchants to compete more equitably than before with interior points.

A shell recovered from the wreck of the Merrimack exploded at Portsmouth, Virginia, navy yard, Saturday, killing two negroes and severely wounding several others.

United States detectives at Cincinnati arrested Bill Mills, Roman Louhrer, David Rohle and Charles Riley as counterfeiters. A considerable amount of 50 cent counterfeit notes and dies for manufacturing nickels were captured.

Hon. Joseph Medill states that there was a meeting of prominent journalists at which the Blaine scandal was broached, and that they sent a note to him asking an explanation. The note was nearly a month ago, but Mr. Blaine has made no reply.

It appears that in addition to the power of attorney given Judge Hilton to manage her estate, Mrs. Stewart, Saturday, filed in the register's office a transfer and assignment of her late husband's share in the business of A. T. Stewart & Co. to her. The transfer, real and personal, except the real estate included in the city of New York, to Judge Hilton, for the sum of $400,000. Both instruments are dated April 14, 1876.

The Nashville life insurance company and the Odd Fellow's widow and orphan life insurance company were both suspended Saturday by the state insurance commissioner. The available assets of the Nashville life are $289,875. Its liabilities, according to the standard of the act of 1875, are $318,700. The company propose reissuing their policies. The available assets of the widow and orphan company are $208,000; liabilities over $400,000.

James M. Hagar, of Richmond, Maine, publishes a note to the effect that in 1865 he purchased $13,000 worth of stocks and bonds of the Little Rock & Ft. Smith railroad on the recommendation of Mr. Blaine. It was a good investment, paying $10,000. In 1872 telling Mr. Blaine the investment had turned out badly, he, Blaine, offered to take them off his hands and did so, paying him $10,000. Mr. Hagar says there is not the slightest political significance in the transaction.

General Patterson, collector of the district of Memphis, with deputy collector Paxton, of Paducah, Kentucky, with seven soldiers, returned to Memphis Saturday night, from a successful five days raid through Henry county, Tennessee, and Callaway county, Kentucky. They seized and destroyed five distilleries in Henry county and three in Callaway county, together with 5,000 gallons of mash, five barrels of whiskey and a large quantity of other material found in them. Five of the guilty parties were arrested but the others made their escape.

Reports from Massillon, Ohio state that all is quiet at the mines. The strikers, after driving the miners from the works, disbanded and left the vicinity of the mines in squads. No arrests were made, and none of the injured were seriously hurt. The coal company has appealed to the State for the protection of its mines, and aid has been promised. It is stated on good authority that an organized force of from four hundred to six hundred strikers will go to Silver Creek some day this week to drive out the miners who are working at reduced pay there.

The grand jury on Saturday indicted Messrs. Babcock, Harrington, Whitley, Benton, Miles, Nettleship and Somerville, for complicity in the safe burglary conspiracy. Warrants were issued for the arrest of each one, except Babcock, who appeared in court on bail in the sum of $10,000, ex-Governor Shepherd becoming his security. It is understood that all except Babcock and Harrington will be used as witnesses, and the indictment against those testifying will be nolle prossed. Babcock, however, Harrington can not be found and will seek to avoid arrest.

In the United States circuit court at St. Louis Saturday, John M. Krum made a motion that the court would delay commitment in the case of W. O. Avery for 10 days, as a petition had been forwarded to Washington asking his transfer to some eastern penitentiary. Judge Test declined to consider such motion unless it came from the district attorney. Col. Dyer said he must decline to make the motion, as a transfer could be made after the commitment as well as before. This settled the matter and the commitments in the case of McDonald and Avery were made out.

A call has been issued for a conference to be held in New York city on the 15th of May, to consider what may be done to secure the election of men in the national election to the highest offices of the republic whose character and ability will satisfy the exigencies of the present situation, will protect the honor of the American name; will prevent the national election of the centennial year from becoming a mere choice of evils, and will satisfy the popular desire for a genuine reform. The call is signed by William Cullen Bryant, Theodore D. Woolsey, Alex. H. Bullock, Horace White, and Carl Schurz.

General Crook thinks the destruction of Crazy Horse camp a severe blow to the Indians, but it has made them desperate. Had their ponies been held by General Reynolds the Indians would have been crippled to a great extent, and the extent of the war, which is undoubtedly at hand, would have been lessened. The policy of the Indians is at present to reap the benefits of both war and peace. Some say the reservations furnish the warriors with information, provision, ammunition, etc. The order for a general court martial of General Reynolds, Captain Moore and others has been issued. The court meets at Ft. Russell, Wyoming territory, April 24.

District Attorney Wells does not believe the safe burglary trial will be reached before the middle of June. No trouble is expected in obtaining the presence of Whitley, Nettleship, Hays and Gunz. Whitley's pardon depends on his testimony and on his testimony depends the entire case against Babcock. Harrington has not been found, but it is believed he will come forward and take his chances though the evidence against him is very positive. There is no evidence implicating Governor Shepherd, Thomas Shepherd, or Dr. Sharpe, and the district attorney does not believe Marshal Sharp any way guilty of packing a jury.

A telegram from Capt. James B. Eads informs the South Pass jetty company, at St. Louis, that the careful soundings through the jetties made day before yesterday show at least a depth of water to be 15 feet 6 inches, and the clear depth 22 feet, extending one mile and three-quarters from the upper end of the jetties and to within about half a mile of the deep sea. In this half mile we have several hundred feet of 22 feet depth. Half way down the jetties we have 32 feet of water in one locality, and several hundred feet of 26 and 28 feet deep. The 15 feet 6 inches shoal will be gone by the first of May, when there will be a channel at least 20 feet deep through to the sea.

The following sentences were passed by Judge Kregel, of the United States district court, at Jefferson City, Missouri, upon persons convicted in that court of connection with the whisky frauds: John L. Billinger, ex-gauger, St. Joseph, two years in the penitentiary and $2,000 fine; Simon Adler and A. Furst, distillers and rectifiers of St. Joseph, each one year in the county jail and $10,000 fine; John Sheehan, distiller, St. Joseph, eight months in the county jail, from September last, and $1,000 fine; Henry R. W. Hartwig, and Ernest F. Hartwig, brothers, at St. Joseph, each three months in the county jail and $2,500 fine; James E. Marsh, ex-gauger, of Kansas City, six months in jail and $1,000 fine.

The reply of Mayor Colvin of Chicago to the formal demand of the citizens' committee for his resignation will be published to-morrow. It covers about two newspaper columns. He sets out with the statement that he believes the demand was purely political in its nature and that no good will be accomplished by his compliance with it. He goes into an exhaustive history of his administration, which he declares has been hampered by the legacy of debt left to the city by his predecessor in the mayoralty. He says that a great majority of the taxpayers are the wealthy classes and politicians, who resort to every means to avoid their taxes or place their own burdens on the shoulders of the poor. He appends a list of the prominent merchants who are, he says, the leading taxpayers, and who are also the leading spirits in the city. The amount due the city from these men is about $1,000,000. He concludes with the proposition that if this demand is honestly made, and if proof is forthcoming of the sincerity of the demand in a payment of all city taxes which these gentlemen who make the demand are owing to the city that he will resign twenty-four hours after having seen the receipts for such taxes signed by the proper officers.

DO THE POLICE "WHACK" WITH THE GAMBLERS?

Port government quadruples city taxes in five years.

For the first time there is a real live Emperor among us.

The House refuses to pay attention to Kilbourne's writ of habeas corpus.

The Sentinel says the republicans made the city debt. Supposing they did. The democrats haven't reduced it any. With such party government as the people get from either they may expect a constant increase of debt and taxes.

The democratic primaries held on Saturday night do not indicate any great, overpowering demand for Landers. It is quite plain that the nomination of Landers will disrupt and demoralize the party and it would be a proceeding devoid of all sense of reason, so long as with one of a half dozen other men the party can carry its full strength and get just as many independent votes. So far as the state and national elections are concerned, the independent movement is a farce, unless it can link itself to the democratic party.

Mr. J. C. S. HARRISON writes to the Journal as follows:

In January, 1873, I telegraphed the chairman of the Credit Mobilier committee in relation to some valueless Fort Smith and Little Rock land grant bonds, held as assets by the Union Pacific railroad company, for which the books of the company showed they had paid a large sum of money, and gave certain questions to be asked. In noticing the reports of the daily examination of the committee, no such questions were ever put by them. I then, on February 3, 1873, wrote to the chairman more fully about the matter. If any attention was ever given to the telegram or letter I was never informed. I am conscious that I have been faithful to my trust, and am ready and willing to go before any tribunal or congressional committee whenever called. I have no desire to conceal facts, or shield any person.

It is suspicious that no notice was taken of Mr. Harrison's information, and it is all the more reason for investigating the matter now. Mr. Harrison is a responsible man who holds an important position. He has virtually made charges against Mr. Blaine, which the latter can scarcely afford to overlook. If he does not care to ask for an investigation, some democrat had better do it for him.

The acquittal of Wombach on Saturday is another of those perversions of justice which bring contempt upon the machinery of the law. It was in direct violation of the judge's charge. If he charged the law, the verdict was given in contradiction and defiance of the law. If he did not charge the law it is time to know it. Phillips, the murdered man, was an inoffensive negro, arrested for a misdemeanor. He tried to escape. In sheer wantonness Wombach shot him and killed him. He was not a felon, and Wombach was not a legally constituted deputy who had a right to arrest him. He had no more legal right, according to the judge, to arrest Phillips than you have to step out of your house and arrest the first drunken man you see, and if the drunken man resist and you kill him, it will be no more murder than was Wombach's killing of Phillips. We do not believe it can be said fairly that the element of malice entered into the act. It was pure wantonness, an undue sense of importance and an idea that a blue coat and brass buttons carried with it authority to do as he pleased in the treatment of others. He made no honest effort to catch him, but drew his pistol and shot. So little importance was ascribed to the act that for twenty-four hours it was considered a most capital joke about the station house, and Wombach was quite a hero with some of his fellows. "Shot a damned nigger" was a favorite expression coupled with frequent reference to the part of the body which the ball had entered, and not for a day or two at least did these guardians of the peace and preservers of the law seem to have any conception of the enormity of the offence. His acquittal is a disgrace to the state of Indiana, and to the prosecuting attorney of the criminal court in particular, and if it is done under cover of law, so much the worse. If justice is sustained by the courts and murder is outraged in this way, we may have a reconstruction some day. In the meantime, under this decision, the police can shoot down any offender who tries to run away, and to kill an escaper from the chain-gang will be a laudable act. There is no need to detain Scanlin any longer, and the sooner the two worthies are reinstated on "the best police force of the city ever had" the sooner will the symmetrical proportions of the whole business be complete.

This office of councilman is an unremunerative office. Its salary wouldn't pay any man with an occupation above wood-sawyer. Taking regular and extra meetings together the compensation may amount to three hundred dollars a year. Now no honest man is going to spend days and dollars in working, not for an election, but a nomination, to such a place. He can't afford it. There is no return in the emoluments for his outlay, and he wouldn't think of looking to any other means of remuneration, for no other could be legal or honorable. This is all as plain and indisputable as the approach of spring. What, then, are we to think of men who do spend time and money in obtaining a nomination or chance to run for the office, and afterwards spend more of both in running? Just this and nothing better, they mean to make money of it by processes that won't bear blowing about. They mean to help jobs and share the profits. They expect to get a hand in the treasury, through such action of the council as they may suggest or assist, a little deeper than three hundred dollars a year. This is the reasonable, and the only reasonable construction of their conduct. No sensible man is going to spend money for a hardworking—if its duties are faithfully done—office, which can never possibly repay the outlay, for no sensible man is going to throw good money away, and the intention to come by a profit in operation is so strong a presumption that nothing can rebut it but a year or two of experience, which shows no connivance at corruption. The safe rule for every voter is to strike off the name of every council candidate who, he knows, has busied himself to work ward meetings for his nomination. The chances are fifty to one that he means to cheat the city, a hundred to one that he will hold a hand in some paying speculation, accomplished by the help of his vote before the year is half gone. The reasons for this opinion, as we have said, are almost irrefutably strong, and the man who votes for an electioneering ward manager, convention-packing candidate is voting for just such another year of ruthless waste and ruinous taxation as we have nearly passed through. Honest and competent men won't put themselves out of the way to get an office that must be a serious trouble and can never be a source of compensation or credit, for who cares for the fame of a councilman? The pay must be wholly in the consciousness of serving the public interest, and that is not the thing to pay out time and money for a chance to get. Spot the electioneering council candidate, for he can't be trusted.

A Political Set of Chess-men.

[Paris letter to Montreal Herald.]

The Swedish carver, Ostergrén, is sending a grand chess-board to the centennial exhibition, symbolizing the flight in Germany. On one side are Kaiser Wilhelm and Kaiserina Augusta as king and queen, Bismarck and Falk as bishops; the knights are Uhlans, and the pawns are soldiers. On the other side is Pius IX as king, with, as "queen" to him, an abbess holding a wax taper nearly burned out; the bishops are aged cardinals, the knights are monks on asses, and the pawns and monks on foot. There can be no doubt as to the sympathies of the great carver.

Rothschild's Day's Work.

[Paris letter to New York Times.]

The Baron is a hard-working man. His wealth imposes a deal of labor upon him. He rises at 7 o'clock in the morning and goes to his bureau, working there steadily throughout the day, having his midday lunch brought in to him. When in need of air and exercise he runs down to Ferrières for a little shooting. Meanwhile Mme. de Rothschild is making the rounds of her hospitals, carrying relief and comfort to hundreds of those who suffer. These people have enormous fortunes, but they make good use of them, and live really noble lives.

A Bitter Name.

New Mexico is to be admitted into the union under the name of "Montezuma." A more appropriate name, considering the prevailing weakness of the inhabitants, would be "Threecardmontezuma."

The Song of the Fatalist.

[Omar Khayyam, the Persian, translated by Edward Fitzgerald.]

We are no other than a moving row of magic shadow-shapes, that come and go, And with the unillumined lantern, held in mid-midnight by the master of the show.

Impotent pieces of the game. He plays Upon this checker-board of nights and days, Hither and thither moves, and checks, and slays, And one by one back in the closet lays.

The ball no question makes of eyes and nose, But right or left, as strikes the player, goes; And he that tossed you down into the field, He knows about it all—He knows—He knows!

The moving finger writes, and having writ, Moves on, nor all your piety nor wit Shall lure it back to cancel half a line, Nor all your tears wash out a word of it!

And that inverted bowl they call the sky, When under crawling, cooped, we live and die, Lift not your hands to it, for it is help As impotently rolls as you or I.

With earth's first clay they did the last man knead, And there of the last harvest sowed the seed, And the first morning of creation wrote, What the last day of reckoning shall read!

Yesterday this day's madness did prepare: To-morrow's silence, triumph, or despair; Drink! for you know not whence you come nor why; Drink! for you know not why you go nor where!

A clergyman preaching in a Washington church recently chose for his subject the sisters of Lazarus. Some men who went up from Orville, California, to the Big Kinshaw claim, a few days ago, found the snow 22 feet deep. The house was only 20 feet high and there was nothing of it to be seen. She had been snowed in since the 24th of January and had lived all this time upon the mice that found their way there.

DOM PEDRO.

Arrival at New York—His History and Accomplishments.

Dom Pedro's arrival in New York was briefly chronicled in The News on Saturday. He landed with the empress and suite quietly at pier No. 2 to avoid the crowd at the Twenty-fourth street landing, and was immediately driven to his hotel. Yesterday, accompanied by the empress and his suite, he attended divine service at St. Patrick's cathedral. A solemn high mass was celebrated and Vicar General Quinn, on behalf of Cardinal McCloskey, who is sick, welcomed their majesties to this country, and congratulated them on their prosperous voyage. He prayed that the remainder of their journey be equally auspicious and happy. There were large crowds both inside and outside the church to catch a glimpse of the imperial visitors. After church they were driven through Central park.

[New York World.]

Over the vast dominions of the House of Braganza in America Dom Pedro stood, standing as Emperor by the abdication of his father, Dom Pedro I, in 1831, at the early age of six years. He was declared of age July 23, 1840, crowned July 18, 1841, and married September 4, 1843, when but eighteen years of age, to a Sicilian princess three years his senior, Theresa-Christina-Maria, a younger sister of Queen Christina of Spain. Their only living offspring is the Imperial Princess Isabella of Brazil, born July 29, 1846, who was married at the age of eighteen to H. R. H. the Count of Ed., a son of the Duke of Nemours and a grandson of Louis Philippe, King of the French. The Imperial Princess has one living child, a prince born at Rio Janeiro in October last.

If the Herald is correct, the interview by the city editor of the Journal with Judge Rand was not a success. 'Praps it was too much of a success.

A catfish was caught in White river last week weighing 30 pounds, by Sam. Caylor, says the People. Its easier to believe it weighed 30 ounces.

John Isaacs, who stole Dr. Todd's horse and buggy, was captured at Greenfield, was given four years north by the original court jury Saturday evening. Stealing a horse is different from shooting negroes.

The colored people are discussing with acerbity Major Gordon's conduct of the defense in the Wombough case, and are laying up malice over certain expressions made by him in course of argument. This is silly.

Notwithstanding gossiping rumors the fourth ward democracy failed to nominate a candidate for council Saturday night, and instead postponed that interesting event until after the republican selection Saturday next.

Chief Fitcher's reply to "Tar-payer" regarding the purchase of fuel for the fire department, published in The News last week, is complimented by Editor Reed as "sufficiently explanatory to please all doubting Thomases."

The Centertownship greenbackers Saturday afternoon nominated John Krum for township trustee, Samuel Love, justice of the peace, and W. S. Smith, assessor.

The selection of constable candidates was referred to the county central committee.

The democracy in the several wards met Saturday night and selected delegates to the state convention of this week. In the ninth ward W. W. Woolen was nominated for council; in the first, Andrew McQuinn, and in the eleventh, Marshall E. Palmer.

A Herald commissioner has been making a tour among the "right seers," and so long as his finances held good amused himself in hearing their forecasts for the coming year, and old story which fell from their lips, and it was drunk in by absorbing ears that lost not a single note.

Several men presented to the Greenbacker convention Saturday as simon pure independents of highly inflated order, were seen Saturday night or Saturday afternoon taking active part in the democratic primaries. Either somebody lied or there were remarkably short conversions.

Upon the return of Miss Clara Reinman from Germany, she will give a series of concert entertainments in this country, commencing at Indianapolis, the place of her nativity. Reinhold Reinman, her father, is already putting his house in order for the reception of this favorite daughter.

Last week, near the corner of McCarty and East streets, a tramp begged some food from a young lady, Miss Minnie Schouler, and finding her parents an obstacle, he set upon her with intent. He screams brought assistance, but instead of hanging the rascal to the nearest lamp-post he was permitted to escape.

Harry Schalar, 112 Dorman street four weeks ago placed 16 eggs under a setting hen and Saturday 16 were hatched, each egg producing a live vigorous chicken. One of the chickens is peculiarly marked, having four natural legs, and his presence in the balance of the brood is an oddity, to say the least.

Inquiry develops that the ticket-scalper who was said to have procured twenty-five tickets on a northern road by representing himself as agent of a theatrical troupe, was innocent of such trick, having purchased them in good faith of another man. This other man, however, is charged with having got them in that way.

V. H. Hamm, rooming at 80 East New York street, yesterday afternoon attempted suicide, but the bullet lodged in his arm instead of the heart, severing an artery and inflicting a severe wound. Mr. Hamm is troubled with heart disease, and this is the second time while in the agony of an attack he has lost his mental control and attempted self-destruction.

The German societies have selected the following for their committee for the July 4th celebration: F. Goldhausen, G. Flotz, F. L. Bieler, A. D. Siedensticker, Fr. Hergt, Charles Ketch, Herman Koch, Clem. Scholz, George Keyer, R. Kempf, John Riebler.

Five o'clock Saturday evening the Wambough jury agreed upon an initial, and the defendant was discharged. Criminal court juries during the past few months have made so many remarkable returns that this verdict will fall to surprise the public. After such a farcical result, however, further expense to the state might be saved by not pressing the indictment against Scantlin, for if the principal in a murder case can not be convicted, what need to try an accessory?

John W. Fulz, president of the southside hunting club, thinks The News went too far in discussing the Kepple affair, which occurred during the recent pigeon shooting tournament. Members of the club considered the disparaging remarks from further remarks too serious a punishment for the offense committed; but none of them left the tournament on that account. His shot was a careless one, but it was within prescribed limits, and therefore the endangered spectators were as much at fault as he.

The wicked republicans (how else could it have happened?) must have adroitly got possession of the third ward greenbackers the other evening, for there were republican delegates to the greenbackers' convention Saturday, who manipulated things to suit their convenience, and there was a resolution passed at the ward meeting pledging The Plan's cohorts to support both the republican and democratic nominees for council. As an average thing in this city the greenbackers have democratic proclivities, hence for the republicans to gain any sort of a foothold in their midst is so much clear gain.

EASTER SERVICES.
How the Day was Observed in the Churches.

Church going people were out in full force yesterday, the weather being propitious and the occasion of many more than ordinary interest. Floral decorations were quite general in many of the churches, and the discourses of the day had special bearing upon the occasion celebrated, the remembrance of the Savior.

The services at St. Paul's cathedral were of an unusually interesting character, the music being of a high order and most acceptably rendered by a quartette of voices composed of Mr. George Flemming, Miss Sallie Bingham, Messrs. Fred. Otte and H. J. Kenyon. At Grace Episcopal church Bishop Talbot conducted the morning services, and at the conclusion of which six candidates were confirmed and received into membership.

The music at this church was a prominent feature of its services. At the church of the Holy Innocents the attendance was gratifyingly large, and at the conclusion of the morning discourse from the rector, Rev. George E. Engle, the sacrament of the eucharist was observed. The floral display at Christ church was very elaborate, and the musical selections most acceptably rendered, especially the solo, "I Know that My Redeemer Liveth," sung by Mrs. M. E. Spades. The rector, Rev. Mr. Bradley, preached an eloquent discourse in the morning, and in the evening Bishop Talbot received quite a number of young applicants into membership. The services at St. John's cathedral, St. Patrick's and St. Joseph's Catholic churches were of an imposing character. Masses were observed with great solemnity, and appropriate musical selections were interspersed throughout the exercises. The floral display at the Second Presbyterian church was exquisitely fine, the music inspiring, the attendance large both morning and evening, and the discourses by Dr. Withrow effective and instructive.

Dr. Dean addressed large audiences yesterday at Plymouth church, his morning discourse having special bearing upon the resurrection of Christ; and at the English Lutheran church a number of applicants were confirmed, the pastor, M. E. Richards, discoursing in the evening on "The Easter record."

"Anthem of Revelation" was the subject of Elder Black's morning address at Central Christian church, and discourses appropriate to the day were delivered by the respective pastors of Third and Roberts Park churches.

Dr. Robinson of Fort Wayne, assisted at the morning service at Trinity church; and Dr. Day administered the ordinance of baptism to several persons at the First Baptist church last evening.

At the First Presbyterian church Rev. Dr. Coan, a returned missionary from Persia, gave most interesting accounts of the results of missionary labor among the Nestorians and Mussulmans of that country.

The Butler mission church, with a membership of nineteen, has since increased to eighty, and has one of the most flourishing Sabbath-schools on the southside.

Torn Up.
The eighth ward workmen and the eighth ward greenbackers are already armed and ready for the fray.

At the First Presbyterian church of the first named, in consequence, Friday night resolved to support the republican nominee; which statement must be taken with some degree of allowance, for all political stances these days are more or less yawns. However, the cause of disunion is a good one, and calls for political blood, for it seems that the committee of that district, instead of calling a primary meeting for the nomination of delegates to the greenback convention of Saturday, elected themselves to that position, and thus introduced a disorganizing wedge.

A Card.
To the Editor of The Evening News.

Will you be so kind as to publish the following facts:

In the eighth ward there was held a meeting ostensibly for the purpose of selecting delegates to represent the democratic voters of said ward in the coming election.

Some man by the name of Woolen, committee man, was made chairman. On motion of the "coroner" a committee of five was to select the delegates—vote three years and nothing more. Then Woolen takes a book from his pocket and reads of the committee; committee retire, consult, deliberate, and with all the solemnity of a self-constituted tribunal of the eighth ward, they subject to the powers that be.

Next Jordan came upon the scene. Judge Jordan I mean, to enlighten his intelligent audience in relation to the finances of the city and as to the comparative merits of councilmen from the north and south sides. He did not mean it, but I understand that a democratic council to make all the improvements in their wards simply for the purpose of placing the "onus" on the party in power.

"Bah." This is certainly no complaint to us southsiders, who supposed we were represented by solons.

"RAH FOR LANDERS."

The advantages of an evening paper for advertising purposes are apparent on reflection. In the morning the day's work is before the husband and housewife; the paper is taken up, and a hasty glance given to the telegrams and local news, and it is thrown aside for the cares of the day. There is no time to read further, and before evening the paper is transformed into a dress pattern or into a fire-lighter. The evening paper comes in at a fire-lighter—when the labors of the day are completed, and the hours between tea and bedtime are given to reading. The telegrams, local news and miscellany are all read, and still there are hours to spare, and the advertisements are read and re-read, and the bargains offered discussed in the family circle, and conclusions reached as to where to make purchases.

Hon. Wm. H. English, who has been attending the meeting of bankers in Washington, returned this morning. Mrs. English and daughter are still visiting friends in the east.

A child, three years old, belonging to Mrs. Sargent, on South Pennsylvania street, wandered from home about dusk last evening, and some hours later was found near the old rolling mill.

David S. Durbin, of this city, has petitioned to be discharged in bankruptcy, and Lucius E. Goodwin has been appointed assignee of James Colgrove, of Kendallville. April 27th is discharge day in bankruptcy.

Saturday night Captain Griffin and force raided the rear room back, third floor, over Selkirk's saloon, in hopes of catching the party who robbed Rogers of Pendleton. Instead, however, of arresting these rascals, the Captain plumped upon a game of poker, which a half dozen business gentlemen of this city were enjoying, and their mingled expressions of dismay upon seeing the officers were ludicrous in the extreme. All of them gave bond and registered fictitious names, and were to-day fined through default of appearance before the mayor.

Shipped.

A. Cudney, proprietor of the stylish restaurant on Circle street, last night skipped for Chicago, but before leaving he addressed a letter to Mr. James B. Ryan, telling him to take immediate action. It appears that some ten days ago Mr. Ryan stated judgment in the United States court in favor of Chicago creditors for $1,300, and to cover this and also an indebtedness to Mr. Ryan, of $700, Mr. Cudney executed to him a bill of sale. After the receipt of the letter this forenoon Mr. Ryan closed the place and has advertised it for sale. So far as can be learned Mr. Cudney was more scared than hurt, as his entire indebtedness does not exceed $5,500, and his place will easily invoice for $5,500.

Election of Officers.

The annual election of officers of Christ church for the ensuing year was held this morning, with the following result: J. B. McChesney, Senior Warden; R. C. Talbot, Junior Warden. Vestrymen—R. F. Tuttle, General John Love, R. R. Parker, J. Barnard, J. L. Fugate, George W. Sloan, Harry Taylor. R. R. Parker was elected clerk of the vestry and James L. Fugate treasurer. The vestry gave a vote of thanks to Harry Sweet, the young organist of Christ church, in appreciation of his valuable services on Easter Sunday.

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL.

Thomas A. Hendricks, senior warden. D. E. Snyder, junior warden. Vestrymen—Hon. Joseph E. McDonald, R. S. Alvord, Dr. Wm. Egbert, John W. Murphy, W. F. Holliday, Joseph A. Moore and Aquilla Jones.

Mr. Morrison declined to be re-elected senior warden, and he was unanimously chosen to permanently remain an honorary warden of St. Paul's cathedral.

Grace and the Church of the Holy Innocents will hold elections this evening.

Judge Buskirk, of the criminal bench, now strictly adheres to the rule of committing into the hands of the sheriff during their trial all parties brought before him on criminal charges, their bond ceasing to hold good at that period of the proceedings. This arrangement checks any effort on the part of the defendants to "skip out," in the event they see their case to be a hopeless one.

POLITICAL.

Gathering of the Clans for the Democratic State Convention.

The Hotel Bates for the next three days will be the recognized headquarters of the state democracy, though the gathering of the clans at any of the hotels so far is upon the sparse order. To-day at the Bates, Hon. Franklin Landers, candidate for governor, established himself in parlor 34; immediately adjoining is the headquarters of the democratic state central committee, and it was in parlor 34 this forenoon that a News reporter found him, unctious, smiling, complacent and content of the nomination. He, Mr. Landers, had also gathered some strength in counties where he expected no support whatever, and he would enter the convention, he believed, the strongest candidate in the field. Present in the room at the time of this interview, if interview it can be called, was Weir, of Laporte, and a strong delegation from Lawrence county, and pacing the corridors of the hotel were other numerous friends of the aspiring pork-packer, who were lobbying the assembled few with an energy worthy of success.

While upon the balcony a News reporter interviewed a leading Democrat upon the situation, and from him learned that the talk now is for Landers, and that there was an uncertainty whether or not the name of Mr. Holman would be presented to the convention. Said the l. d., "now we have it that he is, and then that he isn't a candidate," and if Holman's friends expect success this question must be determinedly settled at once. So far as could be ascertained from the gossiping, the interest centering upon the gubernatorial question has temporarily submerged other candidatorial matters, and beyond that it was admitted that the present secretary, treasurer and auditor of state would undoubtedly be nominated on the first ballot, if not by acclamation, little could be learned. Some opposition has developed against Buskirk, and in favor of Parrett, of Evansville, for the supreme bench, and it is believed that the recent publications concerning the supreme bench of the state will undoubtedly defeat the first named. There is little talk, not much, of Captain Mitchell, of Elkhart, for lieutenant governor, and Robert Gregory, of Tippecanoe, for court reporter. Gregory was in the legislature while General Kimball was leader of the republican house, and there is little doubt but what his nomination would be a credit to the party. The race for supreme court clerk lays between Carl Habich, of this city, and possibly Gabriel Schunk, of Perry, and the Spottsville, of yesterday, chronicles Schunk as backed by a number of counties. So far as known he will be presented by the delegations from Perry and Crawford, but that any other counties has instructed for him is doubtful.

In the race for governor Hon. J. D. Williams, Congressman New, Judge Taylor and General Manson are named outside of the Holman-Landers circles, but the feeling to-day did not develop any particular strength for either of the gentlemen. One delegate, possibly from the Wabash district, to-day announced to the News reporter, "Wait until Voorhees comes," and as the Vigo county and Tippecanoe county delegations will come to-night, possibly they may raise a howl in a new direction.

While at the Hotel Bates the secretary of the democratic state central committee was stirred up, but he was more mixed than the wandering delegations in the corridors. From him, however, was obtained the following regulations for the convention Wednesday, and the congressional preliminaries to-morrow evening:

The convention will be called to order at 10 o'clock on Wednesday, April 19, at the Academy of Music, by Gen. Mahlon D. Mason, chairman of the state central committee, and immediately proceed to permanent organization. The secretary will call the roll of counties, and reports will be received from the district meetings, which are hereby called to meet as follows, Tuesday evening:

First district—Office of attorney general.

Second district—Office of the clerk of supreme court.

Third district—Supreme court room.

Fourth district—Secretary of state's office.

Fifth district—Agricultural room, state house.

Sixth district—Senate chamber, state house.

Seventh district—Van's Hall, corner Tennessee and Indiana avenue.

Eighth district—Representative's hall, state house.

Ninth district—State library rooms.

Tenth district—Consultation room, supreme court.

Eleventh district—Auditor of state's office.

Twelfth district—Insurance department, state auditor's office.

Thirteenth district—Front room, governor's office.

Each district delegation will be expected to appoint:

A committee on permanent organization.

A committee on resolutions.

One free agent and one assistant secretary for the convention.

Two delegates and two alternate delegates to the national democratic convention.

An elector and a contingent elector for their respective districts.

Eleven delegates to the state central committee to serve for the next two years.

The committee on resolutions will meet at the consultation room of the supreme court immediately after the adjournment of the district meetings, say 9 o'clock P. M., Tuesday evening, April 18.

The committee on permanent organization will meet at 10 o'clock on Wednesday, April 19, at the Auditor of State's office.

It will be the duty of this committee to name a president and principal secretary of the convention, and to elect a large and fair number of delegates to the national convention and two contingent electors for the state at large.

The committee on resolutions will be provided with admission tickets by calling upon the secretary of the central committee to-morrow evening, at the Hotel Bates.

It must be confessed that the democracy, so far, are not rallying upon the head center with the alacrity shown by the state republicans, and the leading hotels to-day noon showed little in excess of the usual stir. However, the evening trains are yet to come.

MR. HOLMAN ACCEPTS.

Lyle, of Columbus, at noon to-day received a telegram from Holman, in substance stating that he was not a candidate and that there must be concessions, but if the convention insisted upon it he would accept the nomination for Governor.

The Acquittal of Wombach.

The acquittal of Wombach, in the criminal court Saturday, of the murder of Edward Phillips, was a topic of general conversation on the streets to-day, and not a little indignation cropped out in the remarks of many of the final disposition of the case. The colored people, particularly, were incensed at what they considered an outrageous verdict, and are loud in their denunciation of so-called justice. In his charge to the jury Judge Buskirk indicated that the indictment upon which the defendant was arraigned charged him with voluntary manslaughter, and that unless it was shown that the shooting was done in a sudden heat or quarrel a verdict of acquittal must follow.

The court further instructed that the defendant was not a properly authorized officer of the law, and that the time the shooting occurred, notwithstanding which the jury, after eight hours' deliberation, returned a verdict of not guilty. From a legal standpoint the indictment was defective in not including involuntary manslaughter.

The following named gentlemen composed the jury: Thomas Dugan, John F. Vinson, Wm. Johnson, Harry Solomon, Alexander Wands, Irvin Stewart, Joseph Page, Agedus Naltner, Wm. K. Ross, Bernard Leachman, A. P. Poor and Percy Hosbrook.
